The British steamer Devastation last week passed by a fleet of fourteen American vessels without noticing them, and proceeded two miles further, where the Starlight and another vessel were lying becalined. The officers of the Devastation took possession of the Starlight, but suffered the other one to go. The person who brought this information does not know what was done with the captured vessel. He was told at the Gut of Canso that two armed vessels had passed through, but he saw nothing of them.

EARLY RECOLLECTIONS .- A friend relates that ecently he visited a man who was some years age his teacher in a Sabbath-school, and from whose lips he repeatedly received lessons calculated to impress upon his young heart an enduring love of virtue and of christian truth. But there is now a wider difference in their relative positions! The teacher himself had disregarded the words of wisdom, pursuing a course of life marked with dissipa tion and with crime, and is now confined in a prison's cell, awaiting the rapidly approaching day Boston, August 22.—Advices from the fishing grounds state that the United States sloop-of-war Cyane was off Holmes's Hole on Thursday in a fog. THE COST OF A PEACH.-A few days ago one of our "colored population," while passing through the Centre Market, was attracted by some beautiful peaches to the stand of the vender, of New Orleans, August 20.—The sloop-of-war Albany left Pensacola on Thursday last for New York, under command of Commodore Newtonthe same race as himself. Having said a few words individuals of African descent were interested) and ascertained the price of the fruit, he delibe rately took a seat and a peach with a combined movement. Having despatched the fruit, he meanly refused payment, saying, although he admitted he had four cents in his pocket, he would call again. But this did not satisfy the merchant, who at once impeached the character of his customer. One angry word succeeded another, fists were shaken, and an "affair of honor" was se riously threatened. The peach-eater determined to obtain satisfaction at law for the insult offered to his person—for even a suspicion of his honesty—caused a warrant to issue against the peach-seller for cursing and swearing in the street. He was accordingly arrested on the charge and taken before a magistrate, who, ascertaining the allega-tion to be true, fined him two dollars and twelve and a-half for the offence. The prosecutor was about to congratulate himself on his success in avenging himself, when he was arrested at the in stance of the other, and likewise fined in the same sum for a similar offence. He now changed his tune. Thus the peach was made to cost four dol-

Butts, aged about four years, residing on the Island, was shockingly burned on Saturday, her dress having taken fire from a flame which she had playfully kindled in the back-yard. CENTRAL WATCH-BOUSE.—In the Board of Common Council, yesterday afternoon, Mr. Pepper introduced a bill, which was passed, appropriating two thousand dollars for the erection of a new Central Watch-house; the Mayor and the Presidents of each Board of the City Councils to select the site, and the former to carry the law into immediate effect. We cannot doubt that the Board of Alderman will readily assent to the bill, as everybody admits the pressing necessity for the creation of a new watch-house.

The national policy of the world in this age is tention will be its guide in the course the Sentinewill pursue.

essentially aggressive. In the growing sense of weakness of some of the nations of the Old World and the ambitious restlessness of others, a common motive to colonial extension has developed itself.

Our settled determination to repel interference from abroad with our own domestic concerns will prompt us to avoid it in the affairs of other countrice, unless by their foreign or colonial policy our peace should be threatened, our security endangreed, or our interests invaded. For when the selfish interests of other nations prompt a foreign or colonial policy which infringes upon our rights and places in the pathway of our commerce a dangerous and unfriendly rival, such a policy must be resisted by remonstrance, and if need be by war.

Our foreign policy should indeed be defensive; but to be properly defensive it must sometimes be apparently aggressive. Our Administration should be vigitant, watchful, and energetic. The world is full of important movements, commercial and political, deeply concerning American trade and American power. It is time we had an American foreign policy. We must have it. We cannot avoid it if we would. We have larger interests and a greater stake in the world and its destiny than every other people. We occupy the best portion of a continent, with no neighbors but a colony and a worn out anarchical despotism. We are the only people whose own land, without colonial dependencies, is washed by the two great oceans of the world. Our agricultural productions are more varied and more casemial to civilized life and to human progress—our mineral and manufacturing resources more vast—our facilities and capacity for internal and foreign commerce more extended than those of any other people livting under one government. A continent to a great extent unexplored and exhaustless in its yet hidden wealth is at our feet. European trade seeks control of the country demands, but it will advocate it under the flag of the country demands, but it will advocate it under the flag of the country demands, but it will advocate it under the flag of the country—nowhere else. Its foreign policy must be consistent with the spotless honor and unimpeachable good faith of the country. To be respectable at home and abroad, and to be great in the eyes of the world, it must ask for nothing but what is right and submit to nothing that is wrong. It must be liberal and magnanimous to the rights of others, and firm and immovable in insisting on its own. It must, in fine, be true to its own interests, rights, and honor—it cannot then be false to those of other nations.
